

FOOD DISTRIBUTION PROGRAM ON INDIAN RESERVATIONS

– HOUSEHOLD CERTIFICATION TRAINING –

INTRODUCTION

Introduction:

- » Welcome to the USDA Food and Nutrition Service's Household Certification Training course for the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR).
- » FDPIR is a federal program that provides USDA foods to low-income households living on Indian reservations, in designated areas near reservations, and in the State of Oklahoma.
- » FNS developed the FDPIR Household Certification Training course to help Indian Tribal Organization (ITO) and State agency certification workers and their supervisors successfully administer the program.

INTRODUCTION

» The training course is comprised of nine modules, designed to be taken in any order. At the end of each module is a short quiz you may take to test your knowledge of the key learning points covered in each module. When you finish all nine modules, you may test your knowledge of the entire training course by taking the post-test.

» The training is also available online where you can access the modules 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and revisit them to refresh your knowledge at any time.
